

SEMI-WEEKLY INTERIOR JOURNAL.

VOL. XXI.

STANFORD, KY., FRIDAY, FEBRUARY 2, 1894.

NO. 96

WILLIAMSBURG, WHITLEY COUNTY.

—Miss Gertrude Lester entertained several of her friends Tuesday evening.

—Rev. Charles L. Nash, editor of the Ky., Baptist, was here last week and preached at the Baptist church Sunday morning.

—The Johnson Hall will be dedicated next Sunday. This is the new boarding hall erected by the Baptists to be run in connection with the institute.

—Mr. C. C. Lawson returned from Virginia, where he had been spending several weeks, last Tuesday. Alex Sevier, of Barbourville, was here Monday and Tuesday.

—The grand jury adjourned Saturday after returning about 175 indictments. No indictments were returned against anyone for hanging the negro last Sunday was a week ago.

—T. L. Bird was in Pineville last week. Rev. L. L. Pickett, of Columbia, S. C., delivered a lecture at the M. E. church Thursday evening on, "Strange Things." Mr. Thos. Barron, of the Herald, is abed this week.

—Judge Morrow left Sunday night for Somerset to attend the funeral of Mrs. Bradley. He returned Tuesday evening. Judge Alcorn occupied the bench while he was absent. The case of Ora May Johnson vs. the L. & N. R. R. was decided Saturday in favor of the defendant. The suit was brought by the infant plaintiff against the defendant for killing her father, April 24, 1890 at Corbin, this county.

—Mr. M. A. Moore is moving his family to Danville, where he will make his future home. Mr. Moore is a native of this county and has always lived here, has been sheriff twice and held various other offices and places of public trust. We dislike to part with him and do not believe he will be satisfied away from his old friends and associates and in a place where the democrats are in the majority.

—Mrs. K. D. Perkins, the wife of our county attorney, died Monday evening at 9:30 o'clock. She had been sick with the pneumonia for over three weeks and had suffered a great deal. She was 31 years old on the 20th of this month and leaves her husband, three little children and an aged father and mother besides a host of other friends to mourn her loss. She was a daughter of Mr. John Boyd, of this county, and a niece of Hon. R. Boyd, late circuit judge of this district. Mrs. Perkins had been a faithful and devoted member of the Christian church for years and her funeral was preached in the Christian church here Wednesday morning by Elder W. D. Rice, of Augusta, Ky., who was a former pastor of this church and a man that she greatly admired. May God's blessing rest upon the husband and he be a mother to the three helpless little children she leaves behind.

DEATH'S DOINGS.

—Mr. J. G. Ramsey, formerly of Stanford, died at the home of his mother in Rockcastle, at midnight Monday, of grip, in the 37th year of his age. His remains were brought here Wednesday where they were met by a large concourse of sorrowing friends and conveyed to Buell Cemetery where after a short service by Rev. John Bell Gibson, they were placed by the side of his wife, who predeceased him to the tomb about 19 months. Mr. Ramsey married Miss Mahala Porter, daughter of the late Thornton Porter, and to them one son was born, H. P., who yesterday saw a kind father's body laid beside that of his loving mother. Decesed was a member of the Christian church, an honorable, upright man and a good citizen. For 13 years he had been an inspector on the L. & N. and was held in high esteem by his employers.

To the Democratic Voters of Lincoln Co.
My absence from home and the short time intervening before the primary, impelled me to say a few words to you through the columns of the INTERIOR JOURNAL. At the time I left for the South, I expected to have been absent only a short time, and before now to have personally seen the voters of the entire county; and I hope yet to be able to mingle with you in a very short time. In the mean time I trust that my candidacy for county judge of Lincoln county will be borne in mind by the democracy; and if you should deem it fit and proper to honor me with the nomination I promise in return, on being elected, that to the extent of my ability and sense of right and justice I shall faithfully discharge the responsible duties of the office and with an eye single for the best interest of the county. Thanking my numerous friends for the encouragement and assurances, which they have so kindly given me, I am yours, most respt.

J. W. GIVENS.

When Baby was sick, we gave her Castoria. When she was a child, she cried for Castoria. When she became Miss, she clung to Castoria. When she had Children, she gave them Castoria.

CHURCH AFFAIRS.

—Elijah Beazley has accepted the call of the Christian church at Rowland and will preach there the fourth Sunday in each month.

—Cornelius Vanderbilt, it is said, has given $1,000,000 to religious work in the past two years.

—The tomb of Mahomet is covered with diamonds, sapphires and rubies, valued at $10,000,000.

—The Presbyterians have not had a prayer meeting for two weeks, the alleged reason being that the electric lights wouldn't work.

—The crowds that attend the Christian church prayer meetings have become so large that it is necessary now to hold that service in the church proper.

—"The failure of Talmage is due to the lack of moral sincerity in the man. His career has been one of false pretenses throughout, and he has at last been found out." —N. Y. Evening Post.

—When the organist of the Dubuque M. E. church played "Ta-ra-boom" the other night the pastor, Rev. Mr. Wheat, resigned. Rev. Mr. Wheat is now looking for a field to grow up in.

—The Chicago Baptist ministers have sent a petition to the U. S. Senate to amend the tariff bill so that the phrase "a tax of one dollar on each proof gallon of spirits" shall read "a tax of one dollar and a half on each proof gallon."

—While a preacher was holding forth at Pomeroy, O., the electric lights in the church went out and refused to come back. He continued his sermon and not a soul left until the benediction was said. It was the biggest picnic the young folks had for a long time.

—Rev. W. S. Wightman, son of the late Bishop W. M. Wightman, has left the South Carolina Conference of the M. E. Church, South, and connected himself with the Presbyterian church. He assigns his reason a change of view in regard to doctrinal questions, having become a thorough going Calvinist in belief.

—"Uncle Joe" Hopper's three weeks meeting at First Presbyterian church, Lexington, was a very fruitful one, closing with 71 converts by letter or profession, mainly by the latter. He started another at the Maxwell Street church, which is to be hoped will prove as great a success as the one just closed.—Paris Kentuckian.

—Bob Marler, who is to die on the gallows at Pineville, Feb. 9th was baptized in a bath tub in the county jail by Rev. Borum of the Baptist church. He is very enthusiastic in his religious faith and says he would rather hang than go to Heaven, as he is sure to do, than to get out and run the risks of backslidings. All the same he is trying to get a reprieve.

DANVILLE, BOYLE COUNTY.

(Advocate.)

—The board of trustees, of Junction City, met last Saturday and elected a board of trustees, city judge and marshal, thus throwing overboard both Tuttle and Ellis.

—The residence and four acres on Harrodsburg avenue, belonging to the estate of Mrs. Nancy Jenkins, deceased, and at present occupied by Mrs. Sallie Bright, was sold at auction to Mrs. Matie McDowell for $1,500.

—The trotting mare Belia Shipp, record 2:21, died at Maple Shade Farm, Boyle, of influenza. She was owned by Little Hudson, of Danville, and Scott Hudson, the driver, of Lexington, who last week refused to consider an offer of $500 for her.

—Timothy Fry and James Jones, both negroes, got into an altercation three miles from town, and in the fight both men were wounded. Fry first shot Jones in the stomach and then Jones got the pistol and shot Fry twice in the abdomen, mortally. The fight is said to have grown out of a crap game, in which 25 cents was involved.

—Two youthful gourmands indulged in a pie eating contest at the Tribble lunch counter. The question of supremacy remained undecided, however, because of a lack of material with which to continue the competition. The count showed that 14 pies, 17 sandwiches, two big cakes, and a lot of hard-boiled eggs, dressed off with such delicacies as sausages, bologna and pickled pigs feet, had been devoured.

Ten days' loss of time on account of sickness and a doctor's bill to pay is anything but pleasant for a man of a family to contemplate, whether he is a laborer, mechanic, merchant or publisher. Dr. King's New Discovery, of Laredo, Mexico, was sick in bed for 10 days with the grip, during its prevalence a year or two ago. Late in the season he had a second attack. He says: "In the latter case I treated Chamberlain's Cough Remedy with considerable success, I think, only taking in a little over a pint at a time. I think I am satisfied would have been equally as good the first but for the use of the remedy." It should be borne in mind that the grip is much the same disease as the common cold and requires precisely the same treatment. When you wish to cure a cold quickly and effectively give this remedy a trial. 5¢ and 10 cent bottles for sale by Dr. S. G. Hocker.

A Mittin Friends.

A friend in need is a friend indeed, and not less than one million have found just such a friend in Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, Cough and Cold. If you have never used this great medicine, one trial will convince you that it has wonderful powers to relieve the distresses of the Throat, Chest and Lungs. Each bottle is guaranteed to do all that is claimed for it and money will be refunded. Trial bottles free at A. R. Penny's drug store. Large bottles 50¢ and $1.

MIDDLEBURG, CASEY COUNTY.

—Elijah Beazley has accepted the call of the Christian church at Rowland and will preach there the fourth Sunday in each month.

—Cornelius Vanderbilt, it is said, has given $1,000,000 to religious work in the past two years.

—The tomb of Mahomet is covered with diamonds, sapphires and rubies, valued at $10,000,000.

—The Presbyterians have not had a prayer meeting for two weeks, the alleged reason being that the electric lights wouldn't work.

—The crowds that attend the Christian church prayer meetings have become so large that it is necessary now to hold that service in the church proper.

—"The failure of Talmage is due to the lack of moral sincerity in the man. His career has been one of false pretenses throughout, and he has at last been found out." —N. Y. Evening Post.

—When the organist of the Dubuque M. E. church played "Ta-ra-boom" the other night the pastor, Rev. Mr. Wheat, resigned. Rev. Mr. Wheat is now looking for a field to grow up in.

—A very interesting and exciting discussion of the tariff took place at the post-office here on Saturday between a number of "small fry" politicians of the town and county hereabout. We are pleased to state, however, that no bad feelings were aroused and the participants shook hands on separating.

—Uncle Wm. Estes was just alive when heard from yesterday, Thursday. Uncle Caleb Jones, who has been at Jellico, Tenn., for the last five months, under treatment for the same disease, cancer, returned home Thursday. Mrs. Jas. Gibony, of Liberty, is very ill at her father's, Mr. J. C. Coulter.

THE GENERAL ASSEMBLY.

—A bill to provide for free turnpikes has been presented in the House.

—The bill to defer the penalty on unpaid taxes from Nov. 1 to Dec. 1 was passed.

—The House killed the bill to establish a State school book commission and training school.

—The bill to give married women the right to control their separate estates passed the House 70 to 14.

—The House defeated the proposed extension of the bonded period on whiskey and fixed the tax at $1 a gallon, to apply to that already in bond.

—There is strong probability that the new jury law will be repealed and the old one reinstated.

Many letters are being received by Senators from the various judges over the State, who allege that the present system occasions serious delays in the trial of cases, and, incidentally, involves heavy expenses. It is also said that the sheriffs can pack the juries by "not finding" certain men.

—A bill is before the Legislature to create a county board of education, composed of the county judge, superintendent of schools and the two examiners, whose duty it will be to employ teachers in all the districts. There is to be only one trustee to the district and the fee for examination of teachers is to be increased from $1 to $2. We do not believe such a law would be acceptable to the patrons of public schools.

ROWLAND ITEMS.—Walter E. Killion is recovering from the severe injury he received at Livingston. Alex Freytag was severely burned in the face. Miss Mary Munday entertained at the other night. Miss Adler Martin has returned from Jellico. A tobacco factory in South Rowland is the latest talk. Miss Maude Orrear will teach at Maywood. Tom Jennings' corn mill is doing a rushing business. J. H. Hilton went to Livingston on business. Miss Annie Ashlock has the grip. Misses Carrie and Jennie Siegel entertained a large party of young folks at euchre Saturday night. The prizes were won by Miss Mary Munday and Mr. John Chappell.

—The trotting mare Belia Shipp, record 2:21, died at Maple Shade Farm, Boyle, of influenza. She was owned by Little Hudson, of Danville, and Scott Hudson, the driver, of Lexington, who last week refused to consider an offer of $500 for her.

—Timothy Fry and James Jones, both negroes, got into an altercation three miles from town, and in the fight both men were wounded. Fry first shot Jones in the stomach and then Jones got the pistol and shot Fry twice in the abdomen, mortally. The fight is said to have grown out of a crap game, in which 25 cents was involved.

—Two youthful gourmands indulged in a pie eating contest at the Tribble lunch counter. The question of supremacy remained undecided, however, because of a lack of material with which to continue the competition. The count showed that 14 pies, 17 sandwiches, two big cakes, and a lot of hard-boiled eggs, dressed off with such delicacies as sausages, bologna and pickled pigs feet, had been devoured.

SAXBY'S QUERRY TO INGERSOLL.—This beautiful song (words and music regular sheet music size) will be mailed to any one enclosing 5¢ in stamps to D. G. Edwards, General Passenger Agent, C. H. & D. R. R., Cincinnati, Ohio.

Bucklin's Arthritis Salve.

The best salve in the world for cuts, bruises, ulcers, rheumatism, neuralgia, sciatica, chilblains, corns and all skin eruptions and positively cures piles, or no pay relief. It is guaranteed to give perfect satisfaction or money refunded. Price 25 cents per box. For sale by A. R. Penny, Stanford, Ky.

MT. VERNON, ROCKCASTLE COUNTY.

—Janie Wash Institute has 35 pupils in attendance.

—A flock of wild geese passed over last Friday going toward the arctic regions.

—There are only two empty houses in town and they would be occupied if completed.

—Our people were pleased to know the governor had pardoned Conductor Turner and Engineer Wright.

—W. T. Coulter has rented Mr. Albert Latham's farm and Mr. L. will move to Moreland soon.

—The bleating of lambs upon the thousand hills is about all the music that greets one's ears just now.

—Col. H. H. McAninch, Wm. Cloyd and Dr. I. C. Dye filled their ice houses with a pretty good quality of ice Saturday.

—V. R. Coleman has bought his father's farm near town and will farm it this year, provided he doesn't take the "sun grins" too early in the season.

—Mr. and Mrs. Wilford Dye gave a social party Saturday night that was highly enjoyed by a number of the young folks of this vicinity.

—D. G. Poynter has bought the Carpenter place just east of town. W. M. Weber and W. M. Poynter will exchange residences.

—Mr. John Rainey who died near this place Tuesday morning, was well known here, the place of his nativity, for his integrity and straightforwardness.

—The keg factory is an assured fact. Shaver & Waiters, of Jamestown, N. Y., have secured grounds at this place and a building will be commenced at once. They will make paint kegs, water kegs, etc. The plant will be on an extensive scale employing a large force of men. Prospects for a handle factory are good. Mr. Olemacher, of Nashville, is here looking up a site. With the stone quarry and fire clay outlook it appears that the place ought to come to the front.

—Master Willie Spradlin is handling the daily paper sales and doing nicely. Capt. Fitzhugh, consulting engineer and geologist of the L. & N., was here a few days since investigating the quality and quantity of Rockcastle fire clay. Mrs. Burke, the woman shot by Bill Newcum, is yet living and has some chance for recovery. Dr. Cooper has located at Livingston. The father of assessor, J. Boreman, died at Nashville Tuesday at an advanced age. R. E. Young left yesterday for Little Rock looking after mail routes.

MUCH ADO OVER A SMALL MATTER.

To the Editor Interior Journal.

McKINNEY, Jan. 31.—Very unexpectedly and undesirably I have been brought into an unpleasant controversy between S. M. Owens and T. D. Newland, candidates for the office of sheriff of Lincoln county. The matter grew out of statements made by me in a public speech on the subject of Temperance in the Cumberland River Association at Waynesburg last August. Recently I heard that certain misrepresentations of my speech were being circulated, to the detriment of myself and the two gentlemen before mentioned.

An apparently satisfactory explanation was given both to these gentlemen, but on last Saturday Mr. Owens approached me with an instrument of writing and asked me to sign it. After reading it and seeing names of several citizens asserting the truthfulness of it I signed it thus: "W. R. Gooch BELIEVES the same to be true." I positively had no personal knowledge of the matter referred to in Mr. Owens' article and under no consideration would I have signed it as a witness stating facts. I see in yesterday's INTERIOR JOURNAL the article is given to the public and that my name is then divested of the explanation which should follow it. I am there made to appear as a witness of things said to have occurred in a class of society that I never enter. The men said to have been present are my friends and I appreciate them as such, but I never go into a saloon or places where intoxicants are being treated out. Owens did not intimate to me that he intended to have the document published, and why he would take the liberty to change it to suit his just now peculiar circumstances, remains for the public to decide.

A Little Way.

A little way to walk with you, my own—

Only a little way!

Then one of us must weep and walk alone

Until God's day.

A little way it is so sweet to live

Together, that I know

Life would not have one withered rose to give

If one of us should go.

And if these lips should ever learn to smile,

And they heart far from mine,

STANFORD, KY., FEBRUARY 2, 1894

W. P. WALTON.

6 OR 8 PAGES.
EVERY FRIDAY.

THE INTERIOR JOURNAL never dodges an issue or takes middle grounds on anything. Its editor has his opinion on every question that arises, but he tries not to be dogmatic in their assertion. His views on the whisky question are known to most of the people of the immediate section. He has given the matter some study and had considerable opportunity to judge by observation, and it is his candid opinion that a well guarded license law is a better way to deal with the evil, than with prohibition laws, which do not prohibit; and which did not prohibit when they were supposed to be in force here. This is a question though on which many good men differ, whose opinions are entitled to respect, and as he has no more interest in it than any other one man, and will lose no sleep no matter which way the election goes, he will not permit the paper to champion the cause of either side unless an overt act of some of the leaders makes it necessary, a hypothesis he does not indulge. So far as he is personally concerned, the editor is as good a prohibitionist as any of the immovable gentlemen, who espouse the cause and cast aspersions on those who do not. He rarely takes a drink and no man in Stanford can say he has seen him in a bar-room here, since prohibition was defeated, except perhaps other business has taken him into them. He despises the whisky traffic and regards it as the greatest evil of the day, but he believes in taking a common sense view of the question, and not let zeal run off with judgment, as fanatics and fools sometimes do.

The self-constituted committee of short-haired reformers who went to Frankfort to get the Legislature to raise the "age of consent," learned a thing or two. They thought it meant to consent to carnal intercourse, when it really means the age at which women may marry. The laws say they are old enough at 12, if their parents do not object, and to raise the age of consent to 18 would prohibit them from marrying till they reached that age. It is rape in the eyes of the law for a man to have carnal knowledge of a girl under 12, with her consent; after she reaches that age such knowledge is punished for seduction, which is made a felony when accomplished by a promise to marry. After being told these things the women became satisfied that the laws were ample for most any emergency and left in a better frame of mind.

If we remember correctly, and we think we do, there was a time when considerable doubt was felt and expressed as to Judge Beckner's democracy, but bounding Bill from Berea, we mean Clark, bounced upon the Legislature Wednesday and introduced a resolution, which was passed 53 to 23, instructing our Senators to vote against the confirmation of Peckham for supreme judge because he is a mugwump. If the appointee is the kind of a man he is described, we should like to see him walk the plank with Hornblower, Garrison, et al, but at the same time it looks like the Legislature has a sufficient amount of its own business to attend to, instead of sticking its nose in things that do not directly concern it.

An unusually sad case is reported from Louisville. It is said that Miss Mattie Roath, deliberately committed suicide to allow her mother to get the insurance on her life, in order that she might no longer suffer from poverty and hunger as the two had for a long time. If this is true it is a terrible object lesson of the misery that is being felt in the cities and calls for a little less of the rarity of human charity.

The clerk of the Court of Appeals is the best paid officer in the State. In response to a resolution from the House, Clerk Adamss shows that Mrs. Longmood made clear in 1892, $8,839 73, and in 1893, $10,015 57; and year by year the fees seem to increase. A bill to fix the compensation of the clerk of the Court of Appeals at $4,000 a year, with an allowance of $1,800 for clerk hire, has been introduced.

Three thousand people greeted Gen. John B. Gordon at Music Hall, Louisville, when he arose to tell of the thrilling incidents of "The Last Days of the Confederacy," in which he took so prominent a part. Those who heard it tell us that it was grandly eloquent and noble in sentiment. The Confederate Association, for whose benefit the lecture was given, cleared over $1,000 by it.

The election of Lemuel Ely Quigg, the almost unknown republican in the 14th New York City Congressional district, is almost inexplicable. His majority is about 1,000, showing a democratic loss of 9,000. For 10 years before no republican had been elected to Congress from New York City. The gentleman of the funny name has therefore awakened to find himself as famous almost as Hoke Smith.

ROSINA VOKES, the actress who has just died in England, was said to be the ugliest woman that ever appeared behind the footlights. She must have been possessed of extraordinary astrionic ability to have succeeded so admirably in a profession in which beauty is more essential than in any other profession.

There are said to be more than 1,000 first class postmasters whose terms have expired, still holding the offices that belong to democrats. No wonder the people are beginning to kick at Mr. Cleveland.

The age of Congressman Breckinridge is put at 56 years, and yet his hair is as white as the driven snow. Early grey, probably.—Georgetown Times. And sitting in damp churches.

If the appointment of Editor W. M. Finley to be assistant postmaster at Louisville means his retirement from the Bee, we rise to object. It stings worth a dozen post office places.

NEWSY NOTES.

John Lavin, 33, was found frozen to death in Bourbon.

T. J. Chenowith has been appointed postmaster at Maysville.

C. H. Fletcher has been appointed postmaster at Alpine, Pulaski county.

The Carrollton Woolen Mills plant that cost $50,000 sold last week for 17,000.

T. B. Ferguson, of Maryland, has been appointed minister to Sweden and Norway.

The total assessment of Madison county's personal and real property is $9,280,000.

A Massachusetts sleighing party were struck by a train at Fall River and three killed.

Rosina Vokes, the actress, belonging to the well-known family of actors, died in Devonshire.

The boiler of a saw mill let go in Daviess county and five persons were blown to atoms.

Four school girls were caught by an avalanche in the mountains of Idaho and buried alive.

Anybody can make and use the Bell electric telephone now. The patent expired Tuesday.

J. R. Collier and J. R. Redding have been appointed postmasters at Franklin and Glasgow respectively.

Frank Preston, a seven-year-old negro boy of Louisville, drank a pint of whisky and died from the effects.

Thomas Hermann, of Hawesville, cut his throat because his wife would not heed her property over to him.

A mean old cuss at Maysville had 125 young ladies and men arrested for skating on his pond without his consent.

Representative Sibley, of Pennsylvania, has withdrawn his resignation, and says he will vote against the Wilson bill.

James Herbert, of Buffalo, gave his old shoes to a tramp. He afterwards discovered that his wife had hidden $150 in them.

The losses by fire last year in the United States and Canada were $14,310,000, being $24,000,000 more than the previous year.

Daniel B. Judson, one of the largest glove manufacturers of Gloversville, N.Y., has assigned. The liabilities are said to be $250,000.

The Louisiana Lottery, under the name of the Honduras National Lottery Company, has opened up in great shape at Tampa, Fla.

The receipts of internal revenue decreased $11,370,074 during the last six months of the fiscal year. The aggregate is $72,927,357.

Major William Mayer, of Harrogate, who was shot at his home by ex-Marshal Bob Newlee, is still alive, but will die. Newlee is still at large.

Mr. Turner the democratic candidate, was elected to succeed Gov. O'Farrell as the representative of the 17th Virginia district in Congress.

Judge Cox, at Washington, denied the application of the Knights of Labor for an injunction to restrain Secretary Carlisle from issuing bonds.

The railway train wrecks in December included 81 collisions, 77 derailments and five other accidents, a total of 106 accidents, in which 31 persons were killed and 200 injured.

The post office department has very sensibly ordered that the "I" be dropped from the names of all post offices ending in "burgh" and the "ugh" from those ending "borough."

George Lee, of Madison, Ind., had his neck broken while milking. The cow gave a lunge and his head, which was resting against the cow's flank, was literally driven into his shoulders.

Mr. Wilson has figured the vote on the tariff bill, democrats 182, populists 11; total 193. Negative—Republicans 126, democrats 32, populist 1 (Newlands, of Nevada); total 159. Majority for bill 32.

Judge J. C. Chenault, of Richmond, is a candidate for attorney general.

George W. Childs, the Philadelphia editor, is still alive, but he is speechless and the end seems very near.

Louisville has at last a democratic postmaster, the first since before the war. The transfer is now being made.

The dead lock in the Mississippi Legislature continues and the session will have to be extended to elect a successor to Senator Walthall.

Mrs. Nancy Gillman, of New Hampshire, who is in her 90th year, procured over 100 signatures to a woman's suffrage petition to be presented to the Legislature.

Bates Shackleford, senior member of the wholesale hardware firm of Shackleford & Gentry, Richmond, was shot in the breast and seriously wounded by his brother, Clay, because of a family dispute.

The town of Kutschian, Persia, has been destroyed by an earthquake and 12,000 lives lost. 8,000 escaped. The site of the city is now a scene of desolation. 50,000 cattle were killed by the shocks.

The work of providing employment for the idle working men, of Cincinnati, under the $100,000 contingent fund appropriated by the city was begun Monday, the preference being given to married men.

A terrific storm has been raging on the coast of Maine and further East. Many vessels were wrecked with loss of life and a number of men were frozen to death. The snow is two feet deep at Ottawa, Ont.

Corbett says he will pay no attention to the challenges of Denver Smith and Fitzsimmons but will certainly wipe up the earth with Peter Jackson. He will only train six weeks for the fight with Jackson.

New York is catching up with, if it has not already passed Chicago, in tall buildings. The American Surety company is preparing to build a building at Pine and Broadway which, it is said, will be 450 feet high.

Congressman McCreary went before the Rivers and Harbors Committee, and urged that the improvements on the Kentucky River be put under the contract system so that they shall be continued until finished.

—There will be no more prize fighting in Louisiana. The supreme court finds that the Olympic Club has forfeited its charter by having the Corbett Sullivan fight and its affairs have been placed in the hands of a receiver.

The miners at the Mingo mines have agreed to obey the orders of the court and vacate their houses. Thirty families have moved to town. New men will be put to work at once, and the mines will soon be in full operation.

In the Little Rock, Ark., circuit court, in the case of a black man and a white woman who had been married in regular form by an ordained minister, Judge Lee held their marriage illegal, and fined them for living together.

—Dispatches received from Rio de Janeiro, January 30, say that Admiral Da Gama having opened fire upon one of the American warships, a sharp engagement followed, with the result that Admiral Da Gama surrendered.

—One good effect of open markets is seen in the announcement that the Argentine Republic, in view of the probably early admission of its wool to this country free, has removed the duty on crude American petroleum.

—Thomas Moonlight, of Kansas, formerly Governor of Wyoming, has been nominated Minister to Bolivia, the position for which H. J. Taylor, the ambitious colored diplomat, was named and was rejected by the Senate.

—An unusual occurrence took place in Falmouth this week. It was the closing of all the business houses and saloons from 11 to 12 o'clock on account of the Union services held at the Methodist church. —(Pendleton Democrat.)

—Hoboken, N. J., is in great luck. An eccentric old wine merchant has died intestate and without heirs, having a cellar filled with the rarest and costliest of wines, estimated to be worth $50,000. Under the New Jersey law this goes to the city.

—Lemuel Ely Quigg, an almost unknown young newspaper man and a republican, defeated the popular Col. Wm. L. Brown for Congress in the 14th New York district, which is usually strongly democratic. Isidor Straus, the democratic candidate, was elected in the 15th district.

—The internal revenue measure, including the income tax, was added to the Wilson bill as an amendment by a vote of 175 to 56 by the House in committee on the whole. The tariff bill thus amended was reported to the House and it was expected that the final vote passing the bill would be taken before adjournment yesterday.

—Alfred McElroy, employed on an L. & N. construction train, was run over and injured so his leg had to be amputated. He compromised with the company for $700, but afterward sued in the Marion circuit court for $10,000. The case was tried this week, when a jury found that he should have $3,500.

—The court of appeals finds that when the applicant for a druggist's license has within six months next preceding the application been selling without the license the statute makes it the duty of the judge to refuse the license unless the applicant will, in addition to the regular license tax pay a sum equal to 20 per cent thereof.

James Lenning, of Muncie, Ind., caused the arrest of his divorced wife, Ethel Boyce, who, he says, held the fingers of her child against a red hot stove.

Dr. W. P. White, the health officer, has had 7,200 children in the Louisville public schools vaccinated. Many thousands were also vaccinated by family physicians.

An underground fire has been raging in Estill county for six weeks and fears are entertained that the mountain will cave in. The slate is charged with sulphur and very combustible.

Judge Toney sent Barker Schmidt to jail for contempt. Theodore Harris, president of the Louisville Banking Co., will also go when he is caught unless he purges himself of the contempt.

The State College at Lexington has matriculated between 80 and 90 new students within the past two weeks. All the departments are full, and students continue to come in every day.

The Secretary of State reports 186 State and 13 private banks, which show an increase in capital stock, surplus fund, deposits, loans and discounts, amount due from banks and cash over the September reports.

A great opportunity was lost in the failure to let loose a kodak upon Senator Chandler, of New Hampshire, when he was so pathetically pleading for the purity of the ballot. Such a picture would have been famous for all time.

A further loss of $400,000 in gold is reported at the treasury, leaving the gold balance standing at $165,500,000, or a loss, during the month of January, of $15,000,000, or at the rate of $500,000 a day.

The recent loan of $50,000 to a Pittsburgh glass company by an association of glass workers, was a striking example of real reciprocity; it enabled the workers to keep their doors open and the workmen to continue at work. That is a big improvement on the blowing in of workmen's cash on a strike.

FARM AND TRADE ITEMS.

John Peoples sold to John Gooch an aged mule for $100.

Harvey Cobb sold a jennet to Arnold, of Woodford, for $500.—Climax.

John Anderson sold to Thompson Bros. a bunch of mountain cattle at 2c.

Richard Robinson bought in Garrard and Madison a lot of butcher stuff at 2 to 2½c.

For SALE.—Two jacks, one by Brigoli and ready for service. Each 14½ hands. S. H. Shanks.

George H. Ketcham claims to have cleared $6,000 out of his blacksmith at Toledo, O., this year.

George Starr says that Direct, 2.65, will go in 2.03 this year. He claims to have driven him a quarter in 28 seconds.

Thomas H. Glover was elected Inspector for the Louisville tobacco board of trade after a deadlock, which lasted several weeks.

G. M. Stont, of Versailles, has sold to Paul Jones, of Louisville, Cutglass 2.20 for $7,500. Next to Lee A., 2.19, he was the sensational 2 year-old of last year.

Goldsmith Maid is said to have won during her turf career $364,000. Her record of 2:14 has been beaten by 119 horses, and yet she was the greatest campaigner that ever lived.

P. W. Green will take his string of fancy horses to Lexington to-morrow so as to have them there during the sales next week. He has six, head of as nice ones as one could wish to see.

A large crowd attended the sale of Mrs. Catherine Blackerby's effects Tuesday and as the sale was made on six month's time without interest, good prices were realized. Household and kitchen furniture sold high; milk cows $17 to $38; sow and 8 pigs $20; 85 pound shrods $4; sheep $2.55; brood mares $24 to $61; aged mules $50; corn in crib $2.25 to $2.30; wheat 65c; barley 41c.

MATRIMONIAL MATTERS.

Statistics show that a third more widowers marry than widows.

If he could not get confirmed for supreme judge, he could get married and did. A dispatch from New York says: William B. Hornblower and Mrs. Emily S. Nelson were married Wednesday.

The Nashville gentleman who took his sweetheart across his knees and attempted to spank a confession of love out of her is now in jail. Young gentlemen in love will find it very much pleasanter, in general as well as particular results, to cut the Nashville swain's programme down to the first act.—Glasgow Times.

TO WHOM IT MAY CONCERN.

McKINNEY, KY., JAN. 29, 1894.

We, the undersigned, do hereby state that the report which is now and has already been circulated over this county that S. M. Owens, candidate for sheriff, brought and treated out at McKinney on one Sunday afternoon last summer, a keg of beer, is an absolute and malicious falsehood. Mr. Owens was in town on the afternoon referred to and was invited to partake of the beer, but had nothing to do with paying for or taking the beer to McKinney. Some opponent of his takes advantage of same and has stated, or caused the same to be, that Mr. Owens is the man who paid for and treated out the beer. But all may rest assured that such a statement is untrue.

E. O. Singleton, Geo. E. Alford, W. T. Dodds, A. O. Dunn, W. R. Davidson, E. M. Estes, S. M. Helm, J. K. Huston, T. W. Walker, W. R. Gooch believe the same to be true.

CONTINUED

—IS OUR WINTER—

SEMI-WEEKLY INTERIOR JOURNAL

STANFORD, KY., FEBRUARY 2, 1894

E. C. WALTON, Business Manager

MEANS BUSINESS.

Buy your school books and school supplies of all kinds at A. R. Penny's.

Watches, clocks and jewelry repaired and warranted. Engraving a specialty, at A. R. Penny's.

The largest stock of Drugs, Medicines, Perfumery, Paints and Wall Paper at A. R. Penny's. Prescriptions a specialty.

PERSONAL POINTS.

MISS SUE HOUT is quite sick.

Mrs. H. C. FARRIS went to Somerset Wednesday.

Mrs. CORA JONES has gone to Somerset to attend school.

Mrs. MINA PHILLIPS, of Madison, is visiting Miss Mary McKinney.

Mrs. MAY ARNOLD, of Missouri, is the guest of her relative, Mrs. J. B. Paxton.

Mrs. J. H. VANHOOK and Geo. T. McRoberts, of Brodhead, were here Tuesday.

Mrs. LIZZIE MCALISTER has moved to Danville, much to the regret of her friends here.

Mr. AND MRS. JOHN H. KENNY, of Garrard, are visiting Mayor and Mrs. D. W. Vandever.

Mr. AND MRS. GEO. B. PRKITT, of Moreland, have been visiting the family of Mr. Peter Straub.

MISS SUDIE AND SALLIE ELLIS leave to-morrow for a protracted visit to relatives at Williamsburg.

Mrs. L. A. FARRIS went over to Lexington Tuesday to see her husband, who is running on the C. S.

Mr. J. H. SOWDER, the real estate man, got his hand severely cut while splitting kindling yesterday.

MISS MAMIE MOORE, the pretty bratette who assisted in Mrs. Underbar's millinery, is visiting friends in Cincinnati.

SAMUEL PRYOR, the young son of Mr. L. H. Pryor, is in a very dangerous condition—the effects of a severe case of measles.

MISS SUSIE LASLEY went to Louisville yesterday to attend the marriage of her cousin, John T. Lasley to Miss Annie Hill, which occurred last night.

WILL H. SHANKS, who has been attending college at Lexington, was compelled to give up his studies on account of his eyes and has returned home.

GEORGE B. WEAREN has engaged as traveling salesman for E. J. Gillies & Co., dealers in coffee, tea and spices, New York City, and will start out next week.

Mr. ED. STAGG, of the Hustonville Roller Mills, went to the mountains Wednesday to fish and hunt for game and health. He has been under the weather for some time.

CITY AND VICINITY.

DANKS, the people's Jeweler.

FRESH Yellow Butter wanted at A. A. Warren's at once.

New barrel of pure sorghum at McKinney & Hocker's.

DAVIES chilled plow points, three for $1, at W. H. Wearen & Co.'s.

Have you paid your account at McNeely Bros.? If not, why not?

Your account will be ready January 1st. Call and settle. A. R. Penny.

IMPORTED Brie a Brac and elegant Bise just received. Danks, the Jeweler.

You can get a good, clean bath on Saturday if you so desire. Jesse Thompson.

REMEMBER that M. E. Elkin pays the highest cash price for hides and all kinds of fur.

TEN sacks of mail were received at the post office here by the morning trains, for one delivery.

CITY TAXES.—All city taxes that are not paid by April 1st will have 6 per cent. added. O. J. Newland, City Marshal.

BANK STOCK FOR SALE.—Twenty-four shares of stock in the First National Bank of Stanford for sale privately. S. P. and D. B. Stagg, executors of Daniel Stagg, dec'd.

We have given you the month of January to settle your account. So you may expect to hear from us by statement or see us in person. Prepare to settle. Severance & Son.

AFTER swearing that it would never consent to granting liquor license the city council of Pineville has consented to do at $500 a saloon. "The 4th class city" needs money badly.

JIM TALL, who has been living a quiet and virtuous life for a year or more, has broken loose again and is now working out a five-day fine for whipping Ellen Jones, a colored street walker.

A sorry looking pair were lodged in jail here yesterday by Constable T. R. Pettus. They were Wm. King and John Andy Dishon, and they are held in $100 bail for stealing hogs from Mr. Turnbull. As it is a graver offense, in the eyes of the average jury to steal a hog, than to kill a man, the two will likely catch it heavily as it is said the case against them is plain.

DIAMONDS at Danks' the jeweler.

DR. HUBBARD writes that he will lecture here Feb. 9.

FIELD seeds at W. H. Wearen & Co.'s at the lowest cash prices.

THIEVES got into Beazley Bros.' Irish potato pit Tuesday night and relieved it of 10 or 15 bushels.

The residence of Mr. David Eubanks, of the Midgerville section, burned Wednesday. The cause was a defective flue.

This is the day for the arachnids to come out of his hole. Let us pray that he wont see his ugly picture on the ground.

The old Commercial will not be razed this or 'another year soon. A tin roof and a pretty coat of paint makes it look almost like a new house.

The Cincinnati Southern ought to let up and take a rest till it can run its trains on time.

For three days in succession we have missed the Cincinnati and eastern mail owing to the failure of that road to connect with the L. & N.

J. W. JAMES, of Crab Orchard, has posted at the court house a notice stating that he will apply at the next county court for distillery license, with the privilege of selling by the quart at his residence. He will likely have a hard fight to get it.

Mr. PERRY, the pianist, who is shortly to appear here, is a friend of Miss Millhouse, of the College faculty, who is sure our people will be pleased with his entertainment. She will exert herself to secure him a good audience and expects to dispose of many tickets.

The Court of Appeals has affirmed Judge Morrow's decision in the case of the killing of the Gresham boy by the L. & N. at the Junction City crossing.

It was claimed that the train did not stop before making the crossing, but the court holds that the stop is not for people to pass and the negligence does not make the company liable for damages to them.

The same old tactics are beginning to be worked in the prohibition contest. Somebody's always sure to get a notice that his further efforts towards a repeal of the license system will result in his house being burned over his head. We learn that Mr. G. S. McKinney is the victim selected this time. Whisky advocates may have sent the warning, but they do say prohibitionists have occasionally sent out such things to create popular feeling in their behalf.

The candidates are as coy of the prohibition question as a maiden is of her lover. They might follow the example of the fellow who ran for constable in Maine 40 years ago, when the prohibitory law was being tried. He kept from committing himself as long as possible, but finally was forced to speak, which he did in this non-committal way: "I am in favor of the law, but against its enforcement." It is really necessary to add that he was not elected.

On the talented blind pianist and musical lecturer, Mr. Edward Baxter Perry, who will appear at Walton's Opera House, on the night of the 17th, the St. Paul Globe says: Mr. Perry is a charming player, poetic in the extreme in passages of tender emotion, and in movements of fancy, light and airy. His brilliancy of execution, highly developed technique and accuracy astonished and delighted the audience, who sat entranced during the exhibition of his skill at the piano.

The candidates are as coy of the prohibition question as a maiden is of her lover. They might follow the example of the fellow who ran for constable in Maine 40 years ago, when the prohibitory law was being tried. He kept from committing himself as long as possible, but finally was forced to speak, which he did in this non-committal way: "I am in favor of the law, but against its enforcement." It is really necessary to add that he was not elected.

On the talented blind pianist and musical lecturer, Mr. Edward Baxter Perry, who will appear at Walton's Opera House, on the night of the 17th, the St. Paul Globe says: Mr. Perry is a charming player, poetic in the extreme in passages of tender emotion, and in movements of fancy, light and airy. His brilliancy of execution, highly developed technique and accuracy astonished and delighted the audience, who sat entranced during the exhibition of his skill at the piano.

The candidates are as coy of the prohibition question as a maiden is of her lover. They might follow the example of the fellow who ran for constable in Maine 40 years ago, when the prohibitory law was being tried. He kept from committing himself as long as possible, but finally was forced to speak, which he did in this non-committal way: "I am in favor of the law, but against its enforcement." It is really necessary to add that he was not elected.

The candidates are as coy of the prohibition question as a maiden is of her lover. They might follow the example of the fellow who ran for constable in Maine 40 years ago, when the prohibitory law was being tried. He kept from committing himself as long as possible, but finally was forced to speak, which he did in this non-committal way: "I am in favor of the law, but against its enforcement." It is really necessary to add that he was not elected.

The candidates are as coy of the prohibition question as a maiden is of her lover. They might follow the example of the fellow who ran for constable in Maine 40 years ago, when the prohibitory law was being tried. He kept from committing himself as long as possible, but finally was forced to speak, which he did in this non-committal way: "I am in favor of the law, but against its enforcement." It is really necessary to add that he was not elected.

The candidates are as coy of the prohibition question as a maiden is of her lover. They might follow the example of the fellow who ran for constable in Maine 40 years ago, when the prohibitory law was being tried. He kept from committing himself as long as possible, but finally was forced to speak, which he did in this non-committal way: "I am in favor of the law, but against its enforcement." It is really necessary to add that he was not elected.

The candidates are as coy of the prohibition question as a maiden is of her lover. They might follow the example of the fellow who ran for constable in Maine 40 years ago, when the prohibitory law was being tried. He kept from committing himself as long as possible, but finally was forced to speak, which he did in this non-committal way: "I am in favor of the law, but against its enforcement." It is really necessary to add that he was not elected.

The candidates are as coy of the prohibition question as a maiden is of her lover. They might follow the example of the fellow who ran for constable in Maine 40 years ago, when the prohibitory law was being tried. He kept from committing himself as long as possible, but finally was forced to speak, which he did in this non-committal way: "I am in favor of the law, but against its enforcement." It is really necessary to add that he was not elected.

The candidates are as coy of the prohibition question as a maiden is of her lover. They might follow the example of the fellow who ran for constable in Maine 40 years ago, when the prohibitory law was being tried. He kept from committing himself as long as possible, but finally was forced to speak, which he did in this non-committal way: "I am in favor of the law, but against its enforcement." It is really necessary to add that he was not elected.

The candidates are as coy of the prohibition question as a maiden is of her lover. They might follow the example of the fellow who ran for constable in Maine 40 years ago, when the prohibitory law was being tried. He kept from committing himself as long as possible, but finally was forced to speak, which he did in this non-committal way: "I am in favor of the law, but against its enforcement." It is really necessary to add that he was not elected.

The candidates are as coy of the prohibition question as a maiden is of her lover. They might follow the example of the fellow who ran for constable in Maine 40 years ago, when the prohibitory law was being tried. He kept from committing himself as long as possible, but finally was forced to speak, which he did in this non-committal way: "I am in favor of the law, but against its enforcement." It is really necessary to add that he was not elected.

The candidates are as coy of the prohibition question as a maiden is of her lover. They might follow the example of the fellow who ran for constable in Maine 40 years ago, when the prohibitory law was being tried. He kept from committing himself as long as possible, but finally was forced to speak, which he did in this non-committal way: "I am in favor of the law, but against its enforcement." It is really necessary to add that he was not elected.

The candidates are as coy of the prohibition question as a maiden is of her lover. They might follow the example of the fellow who ran for constable in Maine 40 years ago, when the prohibitory law was being tried. He kept from committing himself as long as possible, but finally was forced to speak, which he did in this non-committal way: "I am in favor of the law, but against its enforcement." It is really necessary to add that he was not elected.

The candidates are as coy of the prohibition question as a maiden is of her lover. They might follow the example of the fellow who ran for constable in Maine 40 years ago, when the prohibitory law was being tried. He kept from committing himself as long as possible, but finally was forced to speak, which he did in this non-committal way: "I am in favor of the law, but against its enforcement." It is really necessary to add that he was not elected.

The candidates are as coy of the prohibition question as a maiden is of her lover. They might follow the example of the fellow who ran for constable in Maine 40 years ago, when the prohibitory law was being tried. He kept from committing himself as long as possible, but finally was forced to speak, which he did in this non-committal way: "I am in favor of the law, but against its enforcement." It is really necessary to add that he was not elected.

The candidates are as coy of the prohibition question as a maiden is of her lover. They might follow the example of the fellow who ran for constable in Maine 40 years ago, when the prohibitory law was being tried. He kept from committing himself as long as possible, but finally was forced to speak, which he did in this non-committal way: "I am in favor of the law, but against its enforcement." It is really necessary to add that he was not elected.

The candidates are as coy of the prohibition question as a maiden is of her lover. They might follow the example of the fellow who ran for constable in Maine 40 years ago, when the prohibitory law was being tried. He kept from committing himself as long as possible, but finally was forced to speak, which he did in this non-committal way: "I am in favor of the law, but against its enforcement." It is really necessary to add that he was not elected.

The candidates are as coy of the prohibition question as a maiden is of her lover. They might follow the example of the fellow who ran for constable in Maine 40 years ago, when the prohibitory law was being tried. He kept from committing himself as long as possible, but finally was forced to speak, which he did in this non-committal way: "I am in favor of the law, but against its enforcement." It is really necessary to add that he was not elected.

The candidates are as coy of the prohibition question as a maiden is of her lover. They might follow the example of the fellow who ran for constable in Maine 40 years ago, when the prohibitory law was being tried. He kept from committing himself as long as possible, but finally was forced to speak, which he did in this non-committal way: "I am in favor of the law, but against its enforcement." It is really necessary to add that he was not elected.

The candidates are as coy of the prohibition question as a maiden is of her lover. They might follow the example of the fellow who ran for constable in Maine 40 years ago, when the prohibitory law was being tried. He kept from committing himself as long as possible, but finally was forced to speak, which he did in this non-committal way: "I am in favor of the law, but against its enforcement." It is really necessary to add that he was not elected.

The candidates are as coy of the prohibition question as a maiden is of her lover. They might follow the example of the fellow who ran for constable in Maine 40 years ago, when the prohibitory law was being tried. He kept from committing himself as long as possible, but finally was forced to speak, which he did in this non-committal way: "I am in favor of the law, but against its enforcement." It is really necessary to add that he was not elected.

The candidates are as coy of the prohibition question as a maiden is of her lover. They might follow the example of the fellow who ran for constable in Maine 40 years ago, when the prohibitory law was being tried. He kept from committing himself as long as possible, but finally was forced to speak, which he did in this non-committal way: "I am in favor of the law, but against its enforcement." It is really necessary to add that he was not elected.

The candidates are as coy of the prohibition question as a maiden is of her lover. They might follow the example of the fellow who ran for constable in Maine 40 years ago, when the prohibitory law was being tried. He kept from committing himself as long as possible, but finally was forced to speak, which he did in this non-committal way: "I am in favor of the law, but against its enforcement." It is really necessary to add that he was not elected.

The candidates are as coy of the prohibition question as a maiden is of her lover. They might follow the example of the fellow who ran for constable in Maine 40 years ago, when the prohibitory law was being tried. He kept from committing himself as long as possible, but finally was forced to speak, which he did in this non-committal way: "I am in favor of the law, but against its enforcement." It is really necessary to add that he was not elected.

The candidates are as coy of the prohibition question as a maiden is of her lover. They might follow the example of the fellow who ran for constable in Maine 40 years ago, when the prohibitory law was being tried. He kept from committing himself as long as possible, but finally was forced to speak, which he did in this non-committal way: "I am in favor of the law, but against its enforcement." It is really necessary to add that he was not elected.

The candidates are as coy of the prohibition question as a maiden is of her lover. They might follow the example of the fellow who ran for constable in Maine 40 years ago, when the prohibitory law was being tried. He kept from committing himself as long as possible, but finally was forced to speak, which he did in this non-committal way: "I am in favor of the law, but against its enforcement." It is really necessary to add that he was not elected.

The candidates are as coy of the prohibition question as a maiden is of her lover. They might follow the example of the fellow who ran for constable in Maine 40 years ago, when the prohibitory law was being tried. He kept from committing himself as long as possible, but finally was forced to speak, which he did in this non-committal way: "I am in favor of the law, but against its enforcement." It is really necessary to add that he was not elected.

The candidates are as coy of the prohibition question as a maiden is of her lover. They might follow the example of the fellow who ran for constable in Maine 40 years ago, when the prohibitory law was being tried. He kept from committing himself as long as possible, but finally was forced to speak, which he did in this non-committal way: "I am in favor of the law, but against its enforcement." It is really necessary to add that he was not elected.

The candidates are as coy of the prohibition question as a maiden is of her lover. They might follow the example of the fellow who ran for constable in Maine 40 years ago, when the prohibitory law was being tried. He kept from committing himself as long as possible, but finally was forced to speak, which he did in this non-committal way: "I am in favor of the law, but against its enforcement." It is really necessary to add that he was not elected.

The candidates are as coy of the prohibition question as a maiden is of her lover. They might follow the example of the fellow who ran for constable in Maine 40 years ago, when the prohibitory law was being tried. He kept from committing himself as long as possible, but finally was forced to speak, which he did in this non-committal way: "I am in favor of the law, but against its enforcement." It is really necessary to add that he was not elected.

The candidates are as coy of the prohibition question as a maiden is of her lover. They might follow the example of the fellow who ran for constable in Maine 40 years ago, when the prohibitory law was being tried. He kept from committing himself as long as possible, but finally was forced to speak, which he did in this non-committal way: "I am in favor of the law, but against its enforcement." It is really necessary to add that he was not elected.

The candidates are as coy of the prohibition question as a maiden is of her lover. They might follow the example of the fellow who ran for constable in Maine 40 years ago, when the prohibitory law was being tried. He kept from committing himself as long as possible, but finally was forced to speak, which he

